National Holodomor Genocide Museum in Kyiv- This year we will be commemorating 88th anniversary of Holodomor (Famine) in Ukraine. Though it happened a while ago the wounds of many are still open, many victims remain unknown, and the truth of this horror is yet to be told. The Ukrainian government and society are ready to invest time, efforts and some financial assistance to give proper remembrance and honor to those who were killed during that time, study and investigate the Holodomor by completing the Memorial and museum in Kyiv. The government made a promise to build a museum and do other outside work (about USD65 million). To create museum displays, conduct investigations and research about the victims and Holodomor in general will require adequate financial resources to complete it. International Charitable Fund for the Holodomor Museum was established back in 2019, which is managed by a board of directors. His Beatitude Sviatoslav is a member of the board and an ambassador to help raise money for the cause. The needed amount to raise is $60 million USD. He asked clergy and laity of the Ukrainian Catholic Church to support the effort. As of today, about 908,000 hryvnia (about $35,000 USD) is collected. Recently His Beatitude Sviatoslav asked the Metropolia of Philadelphia to renew the effort and engage our clergy, monastics and laity in raising awareness about the project and Christian and moral responsibility to help.
